

Important things to know about smart meters.

How often do we take readings?

- We'll take your readings to provide you with accurate bills and to fulfil our legal and regulatory obligations to you as our customer.
- Before your smart meter(s) is installed, we'll also ask for your consent to collect and use information which will help you get the full benefit of your smart meter(s). We'll ask for this consent when you contact us to make your installation appointment. Please see overleaf for your consent choices and how we will use the information.
- To help you get the most from your smart meter(s), we'd like to collect and use meter readings about your energy usage up to every half hour. We'll download this information once a day and you'll be able to see it online, presented in an easy-to-understand format. This will let you see when you use energy and how much you're spending, so that you can manage your usage and could save energy and money.
- If you'd rather not give consent to collect and use your information in this way, we will respect your wishes. But it may mean that you won't be able to make the best use of your smart meter(s).
- We will use your meter readings for energy efficiency and research purposes. The more regularly we can take meter readings, the more information we can give you. That's why we recommend you allow us to take half-hourly meter readings.

Want to hear about other products and services?

In addition to any marketing consent we already hold for you, we'll also ask if we can use your smart meter(s) information for marketing purposes. You'll find more details on the products and services we'll offer in the table overleaf.
